

Outstanding Scout Family – Steve and Susan Noble, and their Family (Ryan and John)

“You never really remember the pain” is a phrase frequently heard from this Scout family. With their level of Scouting involvement, either they like a lot of pain, or it really ain’t all that bad in the first place!

Their duties run the gamut from local events such as pack committee chairmanships and pinewood derbies; to council-wide events like Polar Cubs and Cub resident camp. Their outstanding interpersonal skills easily navigated potential pack conflicts before they became issues.

Both parents are instrumental in monthly planning meetings. They placed a great emphasis on “maintaining a friendly atmosphere,” and made sure that families felt at home during den and pack events. And these events were truly family events as they attended nearly all activities with their Scouts.

Let’s thank Steve and Susan Noble, and their children Rian and John, for their outstanding service to Scouting.
